

Window : Each browser has its own top level window, and each tab is also has its own window object, and top level window is parent for these tab windows. Any properties that are globally applicable are stored in window object.

Window.document: refer to the document rendered by that window

Window.screen: refer to the screen object document(window.document): Each window object has a document to be rendered.

Screen(window.screen): has physical properties of the screen or display